VIRGINIA'S

OFFERING TO

NEW ENGLAND

Plant from made from spinach and other greens—grown in the red soil "mid the green fields of Virginia"—is only one of many vegetable ingredients that go to make perfect the greatest of all known remedies for constipation.
This is the discovery of a great Virginian physician and named in his honor "Virginia Velvets." One at night, O. K. next morning. They never gripe or weaken, but stimulate, strengthen and sustain. Different from all other remedies, they both cleanse and strengthen the system. Not a "cure-all," but a cure for all forms of constipation and liver troubles—cleansing the system, feeding the nerves, building up the body.
An ideal tonic, a laxative that never fails.

Don't get into the habit of taking drugs which at best give only temporary relief. Take "Virginia Velvets." Unlike all other pills and powders for constipation, the oftener you take "Virginia Velvets" the less you have to use.
It is not necessary to go on using them forever, and in increasing doses.
Ask your druggist first. If he won't accommodate you, we will. Full sized package, in handsome watch shape bottles, sent to any address postpaid on receipt of price, 25 cents.

SHE WAS RIGHT, AS USUAL.

Higgins Finds It Useless to Argue With His Wife.

Higgins is very fond of his wife, but sometimes they have little scrappy arguments, in which Higgins invariably comes out second best, though he hates to admit it even to himself.

Not long ago Higgins thought he had "got it on" Mrs. Higgins at last so surely that she wouldn't have the last word. He came home one evening with one eye all red and inflamed and not in the best humor on that account.
Mrs. Higgins became all concerned.

"What on earth is the matter with your eye, Henry?" she inquired sympathetically.

"Cinder," said Higgins shortly.
"Let me get it out for you."

"Already out."

"Well, let me put something on it."

"Don't need anything on it."

"Well, at least I'd bathe it in salt water."

"No; just let it alone, and it will get well of itself."

"Henry, do let me bathe it in salt water for you," pleaded Mrs. Higgins.

"Don't want any salt water on it, I tell you. The best thing to do for a sore eye is just to let it alone," said Higgins authoritatively.

The next day the eye was still inflamed, but Higgins resolutely declined to let any one "fool" with it. That afternoon he went down to the beach with a gay party of friends and disported himself with them in the surf, swimming and diving to his heart's content. At the breakfast table the next morning he noted with surprise that his eye no longer troubled him and seemed entirely well.

"You see now," he announced triumphantly to Mrs. Higgins, "my eye is cured already, and I didn't do a thing for it either."

"Yes, you did," returned Mrs. Higgins calmly. "You did exactly what I told you to do."

"I did nothing of the kind. I didn't touch it, and as a result my eye is already the same as ever. I tell you there's nothing like letting things alone."

"Didn't you go in the surf yesterday afternoon?" inquired Mrs. Higgins subtly.

"Yes. But what's that got to do with my eye?" said Higgins belligerently.

"Everything. The salt water cured it, just as I knew it would," ended Mrs.
Higgins, with decision.

Higgins stalked from the room, banging the door behind him in disgust.
His wife was right again, as usual—

STRIKES JUSTIFIED.

WHEN THE WORKER'S INDEPEND-ENCE IS THREATENED.

Labour's Dread Weapon Should Be Used Only When All Peaceful Means of Settlement Have Failed—Force Not the Policy of Wisdom.

President Charles Dold of the Piano, Organ and Musical Instrument Workers' International Union of America had the following significant remarks to make concerning strikes in his address to the delegates attending the biennial convention of the organization recently held in Chicago:

"The man who enjoys a strike is a fool; the man who refuses to strike, an ass. I am both in favor and opposed to strikes. I am opposed to strikes when other means may be adopted that will accomplish the same ends. I am in favor of a strike when the independence of the wageworker is threatened and all honorable means exhausted to bring about adjustment.

"Strikes are relics of barbarism, they smack of force, of coercion. Two men or women may differ; because of this difference we would not advise a destructive policy such as a strike implies. The employer and his employee may differ; this should not be used as an excuse for the one to club the other to death either in reality or in a business sense. Men, women, employers and employees may differ with each other or one with the other and still not be justified in calling a strike. Strikes, fearful weapons, sometimes too edged swords, should not be made use of except as a last resort.

"Whenever the independence of the employee is threatened, when all honorable means for an adjustment have failed, then and not until then should a strike be called. There are other matters to be taken into consideration before a strike is called, aside even from the justice of the cause. The cause may be ever so just, but if the time be inopportune it would be folly to strike. Strikes are called to rectify wrongs, to better conditions; they should be called only when reasonable assurance of a successful termination is at hand. To strike and lose will but increase the agony of the employee, lessen his power and deteriorate his condition. We should therefore consider all things well before giving our sanction to a strike.

"During my administration I have made it a practice to follow the provisions of the constitution to a letter.
Whenever an application to strike was received at this office I have either gone in person to the seat of difficulty or else directed one of the international vice-presidents to proceed there with a view of bringing about an adjustment.

"The result of this procedure has been that there were no strikes during the last two years.

"If, however, the final action has been taken, if adjustment becomes impossible, if a strike is called, then the strike should be conducted with all the vigor, power and money at the command of the international union. Every contest forced upon us should be waged unrelentingly. With a determination to do or die, we should fight until victory, defeat or mutual agreement ends the struggle. Let our motto be:

"Peace first, last and all the time, peace at all hazards, peace though we must war to gain it."

OLD TRADE ORGANIZATION.

New York Typographical Society
Near the Century Mark.

While very little appears in the public prints about the New York Typographical society it is one of the oldest organizations of printers in the country, and was the forerunner of "Six Six." The society was organized July 4, 1869, and has held regular meetings ever since. At present it meets regularly on the first Wednesday of each month at No. 320 Broadway.

The society has had upon its rolls the names of some of the best known printers of the city and country. It admits compositors, pressmen, stereotypers and newspaper writers to its fold, although its membership and all its officers are members of No. 6, with a few exceptions of members who join along ago. For a long time it maintained a free library for printers, and it possesses an old painting of Benjamin Franklin, supposed to have been painted from life. The statue of Ben Franklin in Printing House square was at one time in its keeping.

Child Labor Laws Ignored.

Cornelius Ford, president of the New Jersey state Federation of Labor, in addressing the twenty-eighth annual session of that organization at Trenton recently, charged that wholesale violations of the child labor law prevail throughout New Jersey. He was especially emphatic in his declaration against the employment of children at night, and recommended the enactment of a law raising the age limit for night work to sixteen years. He also declared that some radical changes in the convict labor system were desirable and advised the passage of legislation to compel the branding of all prison made goods.

The Best Labor.

For ten years I made as desperate a fight against organized labor as was ever made by mortal man. It cost me considerably over a million dollars to learn that there is no labor so skilled, so intelligent, so faithful, as that which is governed by an organization whose officials are well balanced, level headed men. I now employ none but organized labor, and never have the least trouble, each believing that the one has no right to oppress the other.—Potter Palmer.

Finger Rings.

People who want their rings to last well should not wear them under gloves. The constant friction of the gloves wears the tiny points that hold the stones in place, and the result is that the stones fall out unless they are closely looked after.

WEAK, WEARY WOMEN

Learn the Cause of Daily Wees and End Them.

When the back aches and throbs.
When housework is torture.
When night brings no rest nor sleep.
When urinary disorders set in.
When your lot is a weary one.
There is a way to escape these woes.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills.
Have cured women here in Barre.
This is one Barre woman's testimony.

Mrs. J. L. Cummings of 80 Elm street, Barre, Vt., says: "About three years ago I began to have serious attacks of kidney trouble. The worst symptom was a sharp stitch just over my hips, and the effects would last for about three days. During these attacks I could not sleep nights and could hardly get about the house at all. If I caught cold it settled across my back and aggravated the trouble. I used a good many remedies, but nothing gave me so much relief as Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at E. A. Drown's drug store.
They relieved the pain and strengthened my back and proved in every way a valuable kidney medicine. It is six months since I have had any backache and I am beginning to think that the cure is going to be permanent."

cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New

Tommy Fiegman.

"Reading the stock market report and figuring how much money you would have inherited some day if I had followed the tips I had last year."— Judge.

Logical Conclusion.

"You don't appear to consider my opinions very valuable."

"Well, you don't seem to think so either."

"Why?"

"If you did you wouldn't give them so freely."
